

The book was found

Living With Dying

Synopsis

The first resource on end-of-life care for healthcare practitioners who work with the terminally ill and their families, Living with Dying begins with the narratives of five healthcare professionals, who, when faced with overwhelming personal losses altered their clinical practices and philosophies. The book provides ways to ensure a respectful death for individuals, families, groups, and communities and is organized around theoretical issues in loss, grief, and bereavement and around clinical practice with individuals, families, and groups. Living with Dying addresses practice with people who have specific illnesses such as AIDS, bone marrow disease, and cancer and pays special attention to patients who have been stigmatized by culture, ability, sexual orientation, age, race, or homelessness. The book includes content on trauma and developmental issues for children, adults, and the aging who are dying, and it addresses legal, ethical, spiritual, cultural, and social class issues as core factors in the assessment of and work with the dying. It explores interdisciplinary teamwork, supervision, and the organizational and financing contexts in which dying occurs. Current research in end-of-life care, ways to provide leadership in the field, and a call for compassion, insight, and respect for the dying makes this an indispensable resource for social workers, healthcare educators, administrators, consultants, advocates, and practitioners who work with the dying and their families.

Book Information

Series: End-of-Life Care: A Series

Hardcover: 928 pages

Publisher: Columbia University Press; 1 edition (July 14, 2004)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 0231127944

ISBN-13: 978-0231127943

Product Dimensions: 6.5 x 2.1 x 9.6 inches

Shipping Weight: 3 pounds (View shipping rates and policies)

Average Customer Review: 3.9 out of 5 stars 5 customer reviews

Best Sellers Rank: #131,195 in Books (See Top 100 in Books) #10 in Books > Textbooks > Medicine & Health Sciences > Medicine > Clinical > Hospice & Palliative Care #27 in Books > Medical Books > Medicine > Hospice Care #60 in Books > Textbooks > Medicine & Health Sciences > Administration & Policy > Health Policy

Customer Reviews

Berzoff's and Silverman's text is a compendium of educational material uniquely edited to facilitate social workers' understanding of how to think about, talk with and practice caring for people with life-limiting illness, their caregivers and themselves. It should be required reading for all healthcare professionals who provide end-of-life care. From its use of personal narratives to its emphasis on the theoretical underpinnings of social work practice and research, this resource models excellence in teaching. It is authoritative, comprehensive, practical and readable. Although each of the chapters could stand alone, together they carefully weave the complex elements of what healthcare professionals need to know to be both competent and compassionate in providing end-of-life care. This resource thoroughly addresses the educational challenges set forth in the three Institute of Medicine reports calling for the education of healthcare professionals to facilitate improved care to people with life-limiting illness.

Kathleen M. Foley, MD
Professor of Neurology, Neuroscience & Clinical Pharmacology
Weill Medical School of Cornell University
Attending Neurologist
Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center
Palliative Care Initiative Network
Public Health Program
Open Society Institute (Kathleen M. Foley, MD)

I would highly recommend Living with Dying. (Reverend Francis C. Zanger American Journal of Hospice and Palliative Care) This text offers a successful interdisciplinary approach to understanding suffering, the vital relationship of self to others (and the importance of self-care), and the competencies needed to promote compassionate, professional palliative care... Recommended. (Choice)

This text is an excellent resource. (Katherine Miller Palliative Medicine) It beautifully encapsulates the profession of social work and the care that social workers provide for the dying and bereaved. (Cheryl-Anne Cait Smith College Studies in Social Work) Living with Dying is the first comprehensive resource on end-of-life care... Social workers will find this text indispensable. (Carole A. Winston Journal of Social Work in End-of-Life & Palliative Care)

Living with Dying is the first textbook on end-of-life care for social workers and other healthcare practitioners who work with the terminally ill and their families. Organized around theoretical issues in loss, grief, and bereavement, and around clinical practice with individuals, families, and groups, the book addresses practice with people who have specific illnesses such as AIDS, bone marrow disease, and cancer, and pays special attention to patients that have been stigmatized by culture, ability, sexual orientation, age, and race, or homelessness.

I was required to purchase this book for an end of life class for my masters program in social work. I learned a great deal from it and keep it as a reference for my practice. However picky this may seem I must comment on the format of the book - it's small size and print size. I struggle to find a comfortable way to read this book. It is very heavy and small, can't be easily held up and the print is too small to lay it down to read. My shoulders and wrists ached from wrestling with the book during my coursework, and when I revisit it from time to time I am reminded of this problem. Such a helpful book. Such an oversight on the authors/publishers part. Still worth the struggle to gain the wisdom contained within, but please make a change when you reprint it!

Book is a collection of articles on a variety of death and dying topics. Very thorough and helpful, but some articles are inevitably more helpful than others. Overall very good though!

ok

If you are interested in end-of-life care as a profession, this book is amazing. It is very insightful and full of valuable perspectives and information.

ok

Download to continue reading...

On Death and Dying: What the Dying Have to Teach Doctors, Nurses, Clergy and Their Own Families
Ranger Confidential: Living, Working, and Dying in the National Parks
Dying and Living in the Neighborhood: A Street-Level View of America
The Healthcare Promise
The Bright Hour: A Memoir of Living and Dying
The Stranger Comes at Sundown: Living and Dying with Parkinson's Disease
The Wheel of Life: A Memoir of Living and Dying
God's Perfect Child: Living and Dying in the Christian Science Church
Depression: Stop Dying & Start Living: Social Anxiety, Insecurities, Fear, & Depression Cure
Whatever the Cost: Facing Your Fears, Dying to Your Dreams, and Living Powerfully
Living Well and Dying Faithfully: Christian Practices for End-of-Life Care
A History of Violence: Living and Dying in Central America
Chocolate Nations: Living and Dying for Cocoa in West Africa (African Arguments)
The Land of Open Graves: Living and Dying on the Migrant Trail (California Series in Public Anthropology)
The Egyptian Book of Living & Dying: The Illustrated Guide to Ancient Egyptian Wisdom
Who Dies?: An Investigation of Conscious Living and Conscious Dying
The Beast Side: Living and Dying While Black in America
Death & Dying, Life & Living
Life Lessons: Two Experts on Death and Dying Teach Us About the Mysteries of Life and Living
We Know How This Ends: Living while Dying
The Tibetan Book of Living and Dying: The Spiritual Classic & International Bestseller: 20th Anniversary Edition

Contact Us

DMCA

Privacy

FAQ & Help