My Little Golden Book About Abraham Lincoln

Synopsis

In this simple yet engaging book, preschoolers will be introduced to Abraham Lincoln. Lyrical text and bright, appealing artwork capture the essence of one of our most popular presidents. Little ones will enjoy key anecdotes about Lincoln, beginning with the young Abe who loved to read. Fun facts at the end—such as Lincoln's declaration of the final Thursday in November to be a day of Thanksgiving—round out this nonfiction book with typical Little Golden Book style and charm.

BONNIE BADER is a prolific author of children's books, including Who was Christopher Columbus?, Who Was Alexander Graham Bell?, and Who Was Martin Luther King, Jr.? VIVIANA GAROFOLI has illustrated over twenty children's books, including Ducks Go Vroom and Barbara Park's Ma! There's Nothing to Do Here!

My children are fascinated by the Presidents of the United States. This book is great for kids learning about Abraham Lincoln. It kind of breezes over the whole death thing, if you are concerned about that.

Super cute illustrations and great information for younger kids.

gave these to my kiddos for presidents day. they loved them.

Very good book for my four year old who loves history.

gave to kids

This book is super cute! I had gotten his for a children's literature class I took in college and everyone loved it. The pictures are beautiful and the story is well written. It does however skip over the part where he was assassinated, they just say he passed away. But other than that it was very informative.

My soon to be five year old is obsessed with American history after a recent trip to Washington, DC. This book is perfect for him. He can read many of the words, and I read the rest. This book doesn't really cover Lincoln's assassination graphically, if you are concerned about that. We love Little Golden Books in my home, and this is a great addition to our collection.

Shipped quickly. This book is a great educational book and very affordable. My 8 yr old granddaughter loves it!
