Founded in 1915 as the Cartographic Group, the first division of National Geographic, National Geographic Maps has been responsible for illustrating the world around us through the art and science of mapmaking. Today, National Geographic Maps continues this mission by creating the world's best wall maps, recreation maps, atlases, and globes which inspire people to care about and explore their world.

Excellent map. You see the locals using these at the parks and interpretive centers in the Adirondacks.

Framed this in a poster frame. Great reference to see where I want to head!

Excellent Maps! Try the guide books too! High peaks guide book is the most helpful however..take the others w a grain of salt and sift through the material..the author will use the words "attractive" to describe a forest. And "very nice" for a bridge..when in fact he could have just said forest..and bridge...lol..they're selling you!

Must have for map lovers, adirondack lovers, kayakers, hikers, leaf peakers, just about anything. Very highly detailed, high quality paper (it might not even be paper but something more durable). I would buy a them again in a seco d if anything happened. I was able to find less know. Trails and even map out a trail that few know about. I'm glad I didn't just buy the maps in the areas where we stayed, they encouraged exploring further than planned.

These maps are organized and easy to understand. My only problem with them is the lack of detail. Since they do cover the entire Adirondack park in only a few maps, this is a small scale map. If one was to know exactly where they were going, purchasing a larger scaled map of the area could be more helpful than only bringing these maps.

Very detailed maps. Has a lot of information in them. Show all the roads even seasonal. Shows the trails as well with elevation. Has all the information you will need instead of having a few different maps or other things to help explore. Would recommend.

durable and concise hiking maps. The only beef I have with them is that boxes of info (legends, symbol keys, park info, etc). are positioned on the page so that big chunks of the map are obliterated by them, making the maps useless for certain trails.

I think I would have liked this if I had gotten the whole map bundle. When it arrived there was only one in the package. So I returned it for my money. Maybe I will try again next year.
