The Challenge To Care In Schools: An Alternative Approach To Education, Second Edition (Advances In Contemporary Educational Thought Series)

Synopsis

In this second edition of her educational text, Noddings suggests that if we make the responsiveness characteristic of caring more basic than accountability, we can accommodate both traditional and progressive preferences in one school system to the benefit of all... especially the children.

Nel Noddings is Lee Jacks Professor of Education Emerita at Stanford University. She is a past president of the National Academy of Education, the Philosophy of Education Society, and the John Dewey Society. Her books include Critical Lessons: What Our Schools Should Teach, The Challenge to Care in Schools, Educating Citizens for Global Awareness, Educating for Intelligent Belief or Unbelief, and Educating Moral People.

This is a wonderful book! I would like to recommend it to all educators and parents. Noddings' vision of education is so grounded in life experience and it has a quality that speaks not only mind but the heart as well. Especially at this time when we face social, political challenges and when education reforms has been such a mess, Noddings' idea could probably help to see the problems deeper and reconnect with a vision of education that lead to human flourishing not at the cost of others, fellow citizens, developing countries, plants, animals and the Earth. She's both visionary and humane in a way that is very grounded in the basic emotions, yearnings and motivations of human being. This books also lead time to read other books by Noddings. Such as Peace Education--How we come to love and hate war. So insightful. She's brave to walk into the jungle of war, destructions, patriotism, religion and the psychology related to war, and at the same time so kind to understand all the extremes, polarities and paradox in war.

It's a masterpiece. Seriously, we can change all the educational system with this theories.

CARE - that is all we need (cue John Lennon)

It's simply an excellent book.

Easy to read and follow. Great insight to the challenge of taking care of the nation's most precious people--our children!

Excellent book, great reading. Recommended to all educators!

If you want to learn more about increasing caring in schools, Nel Noddings is a place to start. I recommend this book.

interesting but unrealistic recommendations to change focus of curriculum in education; quotes Dewey quite a bit; easy to read, required for a class
