Beautifully designed, this is the latest in a popular series of books with a new audio component, which makes it even more useful. ...Ideal for the casual learner who may be intimidated by the idea of learning a new language, especially since the phonetic pronunciation system is so simple. I would also recommend it as a great value 'add-on' for beginner students who find it difficult to practice on their own. --Marta Calheiros teaches Spanish to international students in Barcelona, Spain.

I lived in San Antonio 20 years and worked as a librarian but never learned any Spanish. I tried all kinds of "immersion" materials- they never helped. Other materials were merely rote memory phrases. When we moved, I first borrowed this set at a public library. It was the first set that EVER helped me learn any Spanish. It teaches you to hear, read, write and speak using multiple methods. It is simple and easy to understand. It is a "direct teaching" method that allows quick efficient progress. The first few lessons were slow going, but as I became accustomed to the sound of the language and knew what they were saying I made incredible progress. I glad I bought the book decided to buy the book. The set includes a workbook, flashcards, stickers to label objects in the house, CDs to go with the languages, and an interactive app for download. The CD includes a variety of people who have different accents from numerous Spanish speakers from different countries and regions. This system allows me to make up my own simple sentences and communicate with others.

This is a simple way to learn beginner Spanish. I take the 6 CDs with me and listen in the car each day while driving to work, and each chapter is around 10 minutes long. I also downloaded the CDs on my iPhone and can listen whenever I want. For the most part, the tapes go at a good pace, but there are areas where the person speaks a sentence that is too long and there is no way for me to repeat it in the amount of time given. Currently I'm stuck on Chapter 9 because I can't repeat the sentences back or remember the prepositions. But I can always go back again and again, which I recommend. There are 25 Chapters, and because of my busy job schedule, I have completed 9 Chapters in around 2 weeks, which I think is great. I really didn't spend that much time or effort, either. The good thing about this is the workbook, where you can SEE the words or sentences, and REPEAT it after the person. It also comes with interactive Flash Cards, non-adhesive static-cling plastic labels to attach to various objects in the house, and cut out menus to help you remember. There is a CD in the back of the book with software to print out Flash Cards and more. I like to listen to each Chapter while looking at the workbook, then later I will listen to the same Chapter while driving to work, then later I will listen to the Chapter on my iPhone. My retention of Spanish is better each time I re-listen to the Chapter, which I highly recommend. The program has different Spanish-speaking people speak and have you repeat it. It's interesting to note the different way each person pronounces the words, so you can get an idea of what to expect in other Spanish-speaking countries like Mexico or Spain. I'm actually a little amazed at how much I have retained. I'm so impressed with this, I purchased the LEARN ENGLISH version for a Spanish-speaking colleague of mine who is trying to learn English. That version only comes with one CD that is downloaded onto a computer, but the workbook is similar.

I bought this book with audio CDs and program about three years ago from , and decided to put off learning Spanish for a while. Found material in closet a short time back when I decided to finally go for it. This has turned out to be my get off the ground and start flying Spanish learning material. Nope, you cannot really get fluent in any language foreign to you in 10 minutes a day, and what's more this little course cannot make you fluent period by itself. This is just marketing hype to sell products. Yet what it really is, is still quite impressive to me. This is a fantastic starter. I AM speaking to a number of Spanish speaking people who don't know any English. I simply use many of the important words in this material and speak in one to four work phrases. That's what you do starting out, and you get them to talk "baby talk" or one to four word phrases to you, and slowly (despacio) with lots of pointing and sign language too. I found the flash cards in the book so impressed me with the speed of vocabulary building, I ordered the 1001 Spanish word flash cards. Yep, you are going to need multiple sources or attack points to get really decent at a new language. I do like the audio CDs, but even more love the 132 page book. I've ordered two Spanish soaps -- one from Mexico, and one with one of the South American accents with 22 hours of Spanish with English subtitles to get my ear use to hearing rapido spoken Spanish. But this book even has a little section starting you on the conjugation of verbs. This is just a beginning sample, yet a great intro to things you will need to work on as you get better, and you will surprise Spanish speakers with knowledge of verb changes. That's what this material does, as it starts to make you aware of the things you need to do to grow with the language. The pronunciation guides with the words are extremely helpful at the start, but one should be working on learning to pronounce Spanish using the Spanish spelling, as there is also a guide to how to pronounce Spanish letters at the beginning. In a couple more weeks I will get past the need for any individual word pronunciation guides, but it helps in the short run. This will get you off the ground fast, and clue you in on what you need to get bueno!

Love this. Its less expensive than Rosetta Stone and just as easy to use. The stickers were a huge help to have around the house to work on vocabulary. I would recommend anyone trying to learn a new language on a budget, consider this option.

I felt that I learned a lot in this course Most of the basic everyday words and expressions are taught. "Spanish in 10 minutes a day is good for the beginner or someone who knows some Spanish. Some of the subjects covered were numbers, ordering in a restaurant, days of the week, meeting people etc. Listening to the CDs in the car was also helpful.
