I was worried that he would be bored looking at the museums and sights. This book made a huge, huge difference.”* “This book helped make our trip with 6th graders fun and fulfilling. We weren’t sure how our kids would take to going to all the museums and landmarks but this book had us visiting many sites more than once. They were so excited to find each item in the book.” “Great for teenagers! I love these books! My kids are 12, 14 and 16 so I was afraid they might think they were “baby” books, but they are enjoying them.” -Marilyn Thomas

I purchased the Mission Paris and Mission Amsterdam books for my 5 year old daughter for a recent trip. Although I intended them as a way to keep my daughter engaged, my whole family ended up loving these books. My daughter noticed paintings and sculptures that were in the book and then we would read about what we were looking at. I hope that the author continues to make more books on different cities around the world and the US so that I can continue to buy them for my family!

This series really helps make traveling fun with young children. Might be intended for slightly older kids, but my 5 and 3 yr old daughters loved it! We had a great time exploring Amsterdam with this book - I'm so glad I bought it!

All of these scavenger hunt books make trips with kids more fun! They are on the look out for random things and keeps them engaged.

So great, we hope they do more cities! My 12 year old loved it, and so did we.

What kid doesn't want to be a secret agent? They play spy all the time and, this time, they get to do it for a purpose - to learn. I've never been more impressed with what essentially could be called a travel book. I think it's more than that. It's history geared towards kids and they're going to love it. First off, the book is beautiful. The pages are filled with amazing pictures of all sorts of sites in Amsterdam and the layout is gorgeous. More importantly, this makes learning fun. Going to museums and monuments can be a drag on kids - pretty boring - UNLESS they have a mission to complete. At each site, they have points they need to earn and things they need to find or answer. I had two favorite sites in the book. The palace looks incredible in the pictures. And the write up on Anne Franks house is perfect. For that one, it is somber enough to let the kids know its a more serious stop on their adventure. Amsterdam is an amazing place with an incredible history. This is house I'd want my kids to see it!
